Extreme Festival national competitors tackle the East London Grand Prix Circuit

The national categories of the Extreme Festival Presented By Coca-Cola will be in action this weekend at the East London Grand Prix Circuit before their regional counterparts make the trip next month.

Saturday's race day programme will commence with the GR Cup Driven By Netstar. The GR 86 Class will head up this field, with Jason Coetzee having a 21-point lead, with wins from all but one of his eight starts this year. Mbuso Ngwenya and Kent Swartz are tied on 32 points, with the latter having a win to his name this season.

Nabil Abdool has a 100% start-to-win ratio this year in the GR Yaris Class, which sees him 23 points clear of Phuti Mpyane. Kyle Kock will be eager to reclaim the position after his DNF in the most recent outing.

Mario de Sousa is on a six-race winning streak in the GR Corolla Class, which sees him 26 points ahead of Werner Venter. Paul de Vos is another four points adrift, but is not on the entry list for this round. This could open the door for Devon Scott to make up a place. The 2024 GR Yaris Class Champion occupies fourth place with 14 points, accumulated from his double win in this year's season opener, and he will be eager to turn the tables on De Sousa and company.

After their action-packed first championship round, the Investchem MSA4 series will be eager to put on another superb show. KC Ensor-Smith (Investchem) holds a nine-point lead over Renzo Ribeiro. At the time of writing, Ribeiro does not appear on the entry list. This could provide an opportunity for Mikel Bezuidenhout (Corsa Dei Gemali), who trails Ribeiro by one point.

Ensor-Smith took two wins in the season opener, with Bezuidenhout taking the third. This time, the series will revert to the two-race per weekend format, similarly to the other series on the program.

The South African Touring Cars Championship has produced some of the season's most closely-contested races. Points leader Michael van Rooyen (Toyota Gazoo Racing Toyota Corolla) has an 18-point lead and took his first win of the season in the recent Zwartkops Raceway outing. However, the driver who has taken playing catch-up to the next level this season is second-placed Keegan Campos (Campos Transport BMW 128ti). Campos has stepped to the top of the podium in four of six starts already this season, and leads fellow series debutant Jagger Robertson (76 Legacy Volkswagen Golf 8 GTI) by nine points.

Sharing the grid with the South African Touring Cars will be the SATC SupaCup. Tate Bishop (ANGRI Racing Volkswagen Polo SupaCup) leads the defending champion, Jonathan Mogotsi (Volkswagen Genuine Parts Volkswagen Polo SupaCup), by 15 points. The pair has shared all the wins thus far in 2025, with a five-three advantage to Bishop. With third-placed Charl Visser set to miss this round, it will give Jason Loosemore (Astron Energy Volkswagen Polo SupaCup), the reigning Astron Energy Polo Cup champion, an opportunity to close in. Visser trails Mogotsi by 26 points, with Loosemore a further 39 adrift.

Mohammed Karodia (Fast 5 Motorsport) leads the all Volkswagen Polo GTI Astron Energy Polo Cup by six points. Karodia has four wins to his name, as does second-placed Rory Atkinson. Hannes Scheepers (Dainfern Dental Studio) will look to catch up to the leaders in East London.

Behind them, Wayne Masters (Performance Masters) leads the Masters Class with a 30-point advantage over John Kruger (Habot Lubricants). Derick Smalberger (Sabertek) trails him by eight points.

Clinton Seller (King Price Extreme) has a 48-point advantage in the all-Kawasaki ZX10 SunBet ZX10

Masters Cup. Similar to the Investchem MSA4 Championship, the two-wheel brigade is out of sync with the number of championship rounds compared to the rest of the field, and this will be their fourth round of 2025. Seller has a 100% start-to-win ratio this season and also heads up Class A, with second-placed Graeme van Breda and third-placed Jason Lamb (Tyremart East London) leading Classes B and C, respectively.

None of Seller's regular Class A rivals are listed to make the trip, which will provide an opportunity for Byron Rothquel (Magmagic Repair) to catch up. In the absence of both Van Breda and Dieter Huysamen, the Class B battle is wide open. Lamb's closest rival, Johan le Roux, will also be in action.
